

PREPARING FOR A PROFESSIONAL ORGANISER'S VISIT.

Define Your Objectives:

Think about what you want to achieve. Do you envision a clear spare room, a welcoming hallway, a calm kitchen, or an organised study? Identifying your priorities will guide our efforts effectively.

Gather Supplies:

Have bin bags, reusable bags, and spare boxes on hand. These will be invaluable, especially if you plan to donate items to charity during our session.

Make a List:

If you have a significant project, jot down your priorities. Detailing your needs will help us pinpoint problem areas and streamline our approach.

Snap Some Photos:

Sending us photos of the areas you need help with is immensely beneficial. It allows us to grasp the situation beforehand, offer styling advice, and recommend suitable organising products.

Wardrobe Readiness:

If clothing organisation is on the agenda, ensure your clothes are ready to be reorganised. Having them accessible will prevent surprises like a mountain of laundry needing space in the same wardrobe.

Free Up Your Day:

Try to keep your schedule clear on the day of our visit. While we can work independently, having you present helps in decision-making regarding items to keep or discard.

Don't Stress:

No, you really don't have to do a thing before we arrive. We won't judge you if your house is untidy. We can clean as we go, we can advise on home styling and also suggestions on products to organise each room. We have a comprehensive list of products that we recommend.

By following these simple steps, you'll set the stage for a productive and transformative organising session. We look forward to working together to create a space that reflects your lifestyle and brings you peace of mind.
